Consumers Rejoice: NatureSeal for Fresh Cut Produce and NatureSeal for Guacamole and Avocado Available for Online Purchase!

Westport, CT (June 5, 2015) – NatureSeal, Inc. is pleased to introduce two new consumer products: NatureSeal for Fresh Cut Produce and NatureSeal for Guacamole and Avocado. Designed to inhibit browning in select fruits and vegetables, NatureSeal keeps produce looking fresh without altering the taste or texture!

NatureSeal for Fresh Cut Produce was originally developed and patented with the USDA as a consumer friendly alternative to sulfites. The Research and Development team at NatureSeal continued to expand this amazing product line with the development of the guacamole and avocado product.

Both consumer products are offered in a box of 5 packets each. NatureSeal for Fresh Cut Produce packets are comprised of a powder made up of a blend of vitamins and minerals. NatureSeal for Guacamole and Avocado packets are comprised of a vitamin, mineral and fruit acid powder blend. Simply dissolve the powder in water and dip your fresh cut produce for the designated time or add and blend the powder directly into your guacamole! See the reverse side of the packet for step-by-step instructions.

After many requests, consumers can now take home the NatureSeal technology that prevents select fresh cut produce from browning! Prep for parties or picnics ahead of time by treating fresh cut fruit and vegetables with NatureSeal. Impress your guests with perfect fruit platters, sandwiches topped with avocado slices, guacamole dip (see our guacamole recipe online)—just for some ideas!
